JADA Editor Marjorie K. Jeffcoat, D.M.D., stresses the need for members to get involved and stay involved in organized dentistry so that all groups will be fairly represented.

LETTERS

- 144 JADA readers explore antibiotic prophylaxis, the role of specialties in dentistry, and pediatric patients.

NEWS

- 152 Human papillomavirus appears to play an etiologic role in many cancers of the oropharynx and possibly a small subgroup of cancers of the oral cavity, according to a recent article in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute. JADA readers respond to the November Question of the Month.

CLINICAL PRACTICE

- 162 Evidence-Based Orthodontics for the 21st Century
Marc Ackerman, D.M.D.
Dr. Ackerman examines some of the data-driven advances in clinical orthodontics and how they might influence the decision-making process in the specialty.
- 168 Sublingual Hematoma Formation During Immediate Placement of Mandibular Endosseous Implants
Timothy J. Isaacson, D.D.S.
In this case report, the author describes a patient who developed a large sublingual hematoma during placement of mandibular endosseous implants immediately after tooth extraction.
- 173 Portfolios for Determining Initial Licensure Competency
David W. Chambers, Ed.M., M.B.A., Ph.D.
Dr. Chambers reviews the psychometric literature in regard to portfolios for determining initial licensure competency.

RESEARCH

- 185 In Vivo Versus in Vitro Microtensile Bond Strength of Axial Versus Gingival Cavity Preparation Walls in Class II Resin-Based Composite Restorations
John H. Purk, D.D.S., M.S., Ph.D., and colleagues
The authors compare the microtensile dentin bond strength of gingival and axial restored cavity preparation walls of Class II composite restorations under in vivo and in vitro conditions.
- 194 Effect of Light Energy on Peroxide Tooth Bleaching
Karen Luk, D.D.S.; Laura Tam, D.D.S., M.Sc.; Manfred Hubert, Ph.D.
This study compares the whitening effects and tooth temperature changes induced by various combinations of peroxide bleaches and light sources.

CLINICAL DIRECTIONS

- 202 A practicing dentist explains the importance of using a clinical examination form to enhance effectiveness and efficiency when treating patients in a dental emergency.

PRACTICAL SCIENCE

204 Lasers in Dentistry: Separating Science From Hype
Douglas N. Dederich, B.S.E.E., D.D.S., M.Sc., Ph.D.;
Ronald D. Bushick, D.M.D., Ph.D., M.S.
Drs. Dederich and Bushick describe the different types of dental lasers and examine the science behind their applications in dentistry.

OBSERVATIONS
