vestigations that have advanced the diagnosis, prevention or treatment of craniofacial-oral-dental diseases as well as those who have compiled a record of outstanding research in other areas.

Selection is based on the scope of the nominee's research with special emphasis on its impact on clinical dentistry. Publication in refereed journals also will be considered. Nominees eligible for ADA membership must be Association members to win.

The winner will receive a plaque and $5,000, both to be presented at the Board of Trustees' dinner preceding the ADA annual session in Orlando this September.

Nomination letters should be explicit in describing the impact of the nominee's work on clinical dentistry and should include a curriculum vitae with a list of the nominee's publications.

The deadline for nominations is May 1, 1996. Send nominations to Joan M. Reiser, staff coordinator, The Norton M. Ross Award, ADA, 211 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611. Call 1-312-440-2549 for more information.

CORRECTIONS

■ Table 1 in a "Review of Dental HMO Expenses: Where Do the Dental Premium Dollars Really Go?" (January JADA) was incorrectly attributed. The data in that table were based on information from the Health Care Financing Administration. JADA regrets the error.

■ The authors of the two-part article "The Edentulous

Predicament" (January JADA) wish to acknowledge the source of support for their study. The research presented in the study was supported by an Ontario Ministry of Health grant and by a staff support grant from Nobelpharma Canada, which enabled the authors to extend the duration of their longitudinal study. In addition, one of Dr. George Zarb's degrees was omitted. He holds an F.R.C.D.(C).
